Trauma-Informed Justice for Victims and Survivors of Sexualized Violence

To improve victim/survivor access to the justice system as well as their experience with service providers, Justice Canada has granted the Tri-County Women's Centre funding to offer 6 collaborative training sessions.

These trainings will focus on various facets of trauma-informed practice when responding to cases of sexualized violence.

If you are a service provider in any area of the justice system or other government or community-based organizations, this training is for you!
